

LAST MAN STANDING - 2023/24 - GAME 5 - ROUND 2

13th-15th April

Firstly, need to follow up from the mail at the start of the week and the rollover from Game 4. Rule 15 states: "In the event of a rollover pot any player who was not in the game where the pot was rolled over will have to pay a double fee to take part in the rollover game". 9 players are in this current game who weren't in game 4. 2 of them went out in Round 1 (before this issue) so I have contacted the other 7 players earlier in the week asking them to contribute an additional £5 each to the pot. 6 of them have agreed and paid the additional £5, so the pot now stands at £1010. Alex Ramsden was happy so stay as things are - so, in the event that Alex goes on to win, he would only win £485 and the pot from Game 4 would roll over to the first game of next season.

Right, now on to the main stuff.....

73 players are still standing for Round 2. Six different teams have been picked in this round.

On Saturday, in the 3pm games, Brentford host Sheffield United at the Gtech Community stadium - 13 players have picked the Bees to beat the Blades. Burnley welcome Brighton to Turfmoor - Martin Brown, Martin Emmett and Steve Rogers have picked the Seagulls. Manchester City will be hoping to boost their goal difference as Luton visit the Etihad - 30 players have picked City to win this one. On Sunday, in the early game, Liverpool will be hoping to regain some momentum as they face Crystal Palace at Anfield - 20 players have picked the Reds. There's a London derby at the London Stadium as West Ham face Fulham - Carl Jackson has picked the Hammers. Later on, Arsenal play Aston Villa at the Etihad - Dave Latham, Eilish Doherty, Gary Nelson, Gisela Mowles and Ian O'Brien are hoping the Gunners are still top after this one.

I am running the Manchester Marathon on Sunday so may not get a chance to send an results update until Monday.

Deadline for Round 3 will be 12pm on FRIDAY 19th April.
